There was a magician called Pat,
Who wore a black cape and black hat.
He should have worn white,
Because one dark night,
He was hit by a car and squashed flat.

At an Indian restaurant, Murray,
Was eating a plateful of curry.
He cried, "It's so hot
I shall soon need a lot
Of very cold drinks in a hurry.

An unhappy young kangaroo,
Said, when in his Australian zoo,
"I just sit here all day,
And they won't let me play,
On my bongos and didgeridoo."

There was a pop star called Reg Dwight,
Whose trousers were dangerously tight.
When he started to move
They got stuck in the groove,
And now he sings opera all night.

There once was a postman called Jack,
Who tied his wife in a sack,
Because the old bag
Did nothing but nag
YAKKITY YAKKITY YAK!
