

Step 5

- Take into account all the information that you have found on cultural information about your country
 - What does that mean for your stay?
 - What does it mean for the job you are going to have?
 - What does it mean to you personally? Is there anything you're going to find difficult?
 - Which information should you give in your presentation?
 - Find information on relevant aspects for the country of your choice
- Use the categories given in the table (if relevant/ if they aren't, change them) and make up your own table with more space for the relevant information
- Use this table to take notes when the other teams present

Possible starting point:

<https://www.international.gc.ca>

→ services → centre for intercultural learning → country insights

- Find more information for the relevant categories.
- Save the links and sources and note down what kind of information you get there (i.e. photo of....; statistics of...).
- Remember: also note down the date and time when you accessed the site
- Find a clip that you think is suitable to give a first impression of life in "your" country that you want to embed in your presentation.

Step 5

Country	Political situation	Social situation	Gender relations	Rules for communication (verbal and non-verbal)	Dress-code	Rules for living in a family	Ethnic groups – potential bias towards ethnic groups
